Are You in Control of Your Logistics Spend?

CLX GRAVITY Can Answer That Question… And More!

CLX Gravity™ is an analytics platform that significantly improves transportation visibility by combining data from multiple systems within your business with data already available through the BluJay TMS. This application provides a holistic view of your global supply chain while simultaneously allowing CLX Logistics to analyze information in a whole new way.

The CLX Gravity platform answers questions shippers are faced with today, such as:

- How do transportation market conditions impact my organization vs. peer groups?

- Am I overpaying for the level of transportation services I'm receiving?

- Do I have visibility of all my transportation spend in one place, including global regions, partners, and systems?

- Can I forecast and track transportation spend according to my budget?

- Are my procurement events correctly aligned with transportation market conditions?

- How do we audit carrier rate increases?

- Do we have a carrier scorecard program? Do we have a scorecard for our organization?

Platform Features:

- Bring visibility to transportation spend and performance from disparate systems, without the need for additional IT resources

- Move from high-level spend to shipment-level details within seconds using outlier resolution

- Integrate customer ABC-segmentation to drive differentiated transportation performance by customer segment

- Provide a quantitative analysis of your freight compared to peers

- Access to the chemical industry's best practices for continuous improvement
